CLASS NIGHT SONG

Our work is done at Ellsworth High;

Now we're departing.

Though these four years

Must come to an end,

We'll cherish memories of teachers and friends.

Through guidance true that we've learned from you,

We'll always be faithful;

We're sure to remember our school days forever;

Dear Ellsworth, good luck, good-bye.

Class Poem

Four short carefree years ago
With courage in our hearts,
We entered Ellsworth High School
From which we must now depart.

It seems but a short while ago,
But how the time has flown!
Almost before we realized it,
The time has come to say good-bye.

We shall always remember the faculty,
And always give a thought
To the things they did to help us
And to the kindnesses they wrought.

We shall never forget Ellsworth
Where we were taught wrong from right,
And taught to do our best
Whether the future be dark or bright.

Our days as seniors now must end,
So here's our parting to Ellsworth High;
But we shall honor you always
As we become members of your proud alumni.

Class Song

To Ellsworth High, to Ellsworth High,
Tonight we bid a fond good-bye.
As we travel the road on life's long way,
We'll carry your teachings day by day.
We'll think of you, dear Ellsworth High,
Of the good times that now are past;
We'll share your joy; we'll share your pride;
We'll stand forever by your side.

To Ellsworth High, to Ellsworth High,
Tonight we bid a fond good-bye.
As we leave you tonight with painful heart,
We'll remember the school that gave us our start.
We'll think of you, dear Ellsworth High
Praises we'll sing where'er we go.
Parting is nigh—we bid adieu,
Dear Ellsworth, to you we'll all be true.

To Ellsworth High, to Ellsworth High,
Tonight we break our steadfast tie.
As we part from your halls, sweet mem'ry calls
The times we shared 'neath these dear walls.
We'll say to you, dear Ellsworth High,
Cherished school we love so dear,
We'll praise your name, and say again—
Good-bye, good-bye, to Ellsworth High.

History

As we, the Class of 1947, look back upon our four years at Ellsworth, it seems hard to realize that our high school days are behind us.

We entered Ellsworth in the fall of 1943 as bewildered freshmen. The first social event of the year was the Senior-Get-Together, a Halloween party given by the seniors so that we might become acquainted with the upperclassmen. Soon afterwards a party was given in our honor by the sophomores; later in the year we gave them one in return.

After we had made new friends and had become better acquainted with our fellow classmates, we elected our class officers. Glendon Collins was elected president; Mary Duffy, vice president; Kathy McGrath, secretary; and Roderick Grant, treasurer.

Once a week, under the supervision of Miss Stickney, the newly formed orchestra met and rehearsed. The fine results were shown when the orchestra played for the graduation exercises this year. The members of our class playing in the orchestra were Frances Kinsellar, Mary Duffy, Carolyn Driscoll, and Frederick Edlund.

"Oh Say Can You Sing" was one of the plays given by the Dramatic Club this year with George Polozie and Lucille Grant taking part. George also appeared in "Paul Loses the Ration Books" and "Tea Pot on the Rocks," with his famous line, "Papa says it costs three dollars and ninety-seven cents."

When the basketball and the soccer seasons started, our boys made a fine showing.

After a well needed summer vacation, we entered Ellsworth again, now as sophomores. The first thing we did was elect our officers. We chose Charles Jorgensen, president; Robert Staiger, vice president; Sally Moulton, secretary; and Robert Griswold, treasurer.

Early in the year we gave the freshmen a party which they returned in the spring. The members of our class helping to make our party a success were Rose Surber, in charge of the refreshment committee; Mary Duffy, head of the decoration committee; and Carolyn Driscoll, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Leon Roberts played on the Varsity Basketball Team this year, while the girls playing on the Varsity Team were Mary Duffy and Angie Sala.

Again our class was outstanding in dramatics. In the one-act play, "Thank You Doctor," the members of our class taking part were Glendon Collins, Thomas Barry, Charles Jorgensen, Lucille Grant, and Mary Duffy. George Polozie, our class actor, made his first major appearance in "His First Dress Suit" and "A Mind of Her Own," in the role of a mischievous teen-ager.

Then in the fall of 1945 we were ready to enter Ellsworth as upperclassmen. This year we elected Robert Staiger as our president; Harry Grindle, vice president; Sally Moulton, treasurer; and Shirley Van Sicklin, secretary.

Helping our girls' team to a successful season were Lorraine Scott, Shirley Van Sicklin, Evelyn Kupchunos, Elsie Muska, and Angie Sala.

The boys from our class on the Varsity Squad were James Wisniewski and Leon Roberts. On the Junior Varsity Team were Glendon Collins, Harry Grindle, and John Kissane. The assistant managers this year were Thomas Barry and Welles Foster. Playing on the soccer squad were Robert Staiger, Harry Grindle, James Wisniewski, and Charles Jorgensen, Harry Grindle receiving his letter and certificate. The boys from our class on the track squad this year were Glendon Collins, Harry Grindle, Robert Staiger, Leon Roberts, Kenneth Reichle, and Charles Jorgensen.

On May 10 we gave the Junior Prom, which was truly a success. As a result we added approximately twenty-seven dollars to our treasury. The general chairman was Albert Krivickas, assisted by the following chairmen: Glendon Collins, decoration committee; Rose Surber, refreshment committee; and Tom Barry, orchestra committee. The gym was decorated with palms, and yellow and orchid streamers. The tables on each side of the gym were decorated with the same color scheme and with the help of Mr. Bennett we decorated a refreshment booth at the east end of the gym. The couples danced to the music of Carl Little and his orchestra.

This year the Dramatic Club presented the three-act play, "The Fighting Littles," with George Polozie, Thomas Barry, and Mary Duffy taking part. Also this year there were three one-act plays. Mary Duffy and Lucille Grant took part in "Cook's Detour," and appearing in "Be Home By Midnight" and "Romance Is a Racket," was Charles Jorgensen. There was also an operetta given under the direction of Miss Mende with many members of our class participating. As a result of winning second place in the ticket competition, we added another forty-seven dollars to our treasury to supplement the seventy-eight dollars earned by our winning first place in the November competition.

This year Evelyn Hancock, Sally Moulton, and Thomas Barry were marshals at graduation; the members of our class acting as ushers were Shirley Van Sicklin, Evelyn Kupchunos, Frances Kinsellar, Carolyn Driscoll, and Mary Duffy.

At last the time had come when we were seniors. We now had the privilege of using the front steps and we were looking forward to a year filled with good times. Our senior officers have been Harry Grindle, president; Robert Staiger, vice president; Elsie Muska, secretary; and Sally Moulton, treasurer.

Our first social event was the Senior-Get-Together. At this time George Polozie retained his title, which he won last year, as champion pie eater. The seniors certainly took advantage of the freshmen when they fed them milk with a baby's bottle, but the freshmen retaliated by making up the senior boys.

In November the three-act play, "What a Life," was presented to the public and the seniors participating were George Polozie, Thomas Barry, Lucille Grant, Welles Foster, Fred Edlund, Charles Jorgensen, and Evelyn Hancock. Our financial standing was definitely improved by our again winning first place in the ticket competition, a total of one hundred and twenty-eight dollars and thirty-nine cents being our share of the proceeds. We had the usual senior privilege of selling coke and candy at the plays.

The biggest aid to our treasury was the selling of Christmas cards from which we derived a profit of four hundred dollars to add to the two hundred dollars we had when we entered our senior year.

On the boys' Varsity Team this year the seniors were Leon Roberts, James Wisniewski, Harry Grindle, John Kissane, and Glendon Collins.

This year there were two girls' teams including Elsie Muska, Shirley Van Sicklin, Angie Sala, Evelyn Kupchunos, and Dolores Martinez on the Varsity Team. On the second team the girls from our class were Evelyn Hancock, Janice Sieber, and Diana Mangino.

Almost all the seniors served on one of our many committees. Those planning our Washington trip were Glendon Collins, Jean Saxton, Sally Moulton, and Robert Staiger. Working hard on the yearbook were Mary Duffy, Glendon Collins, Carolyn Driscoll, Allen Foster, Jacqueline Dubard, Wayne Dellert, Anna Fiori, George Polozie, Frances Kinsellar, Thomas Barry, Theresa Breton, and Carl Curtis. Aiding in the production of the South Winds were Anna Fiori, Mary Duffy, Frances Kinsellar, Thomas Barry, Carl Curtis, Shirley Van Sicklin, Sally Moulton, Wayne Dellert, and Fred Edlund.

The Hi-Y was actively aided by several seniors. Thomas Barry was elected senator to the Youth and Good Government Council. Their Christmas assembly performance, "The Night Before Christmas, 1946," included Thomas Barry, Glendon Collins, Charles Jorgensen, Robert Staiger, and Welles Foster.

On January 10 we held the first Senior Hop. For music we had all the popular records; for refreshments we sold coke and ice cream. Of course we had entertainment. Wayne Dellert, Carolyn Driscoll, and Anna Fiori contributed the music, and the famous Senior Rockettes added to the humor. At this time the photographer from the Hartford Courant came and took the first pictures of an Ellsworth event to appear in the "Parade of Youth."

At last April arrived and with it the long-awaited Washington trip; then the final examinations. Now Senior Week concludes our group activities at Ellsworth. We hope we have maintained the standards established by preceding seniors and that the activities of the Class of 1947 will long be remembered.

M. LUCILLE GRANT,
Class Historian.

CLASS WILL

As we, the members of the Class of 1947, depart from Ellsworth Memorial High School, we leave this last will and testament as a symbol of affection for our alma mater.

June Boulet leaves her ever-ready smile and cheerfulness to Leslie Parent.

Thomas Barry leaves his drum playing and his match covers used for advertising to David French.

Although we have many more valuable assets, giggles are one of our most cherished possessions; therefore, Cynthia Collins and Frances Euskavech, two of our prize gigglers, bequeath this talent to Dorothy Allen.

Glendon Collins wills his beloved letter "E" to Albin Zagorski.

Theresa Breton leaves her skill in the line of stenography to Edward Muska.

Carl Curtis bequeaths his remarkable talent for selling South Winds subscriptions to Richard Lamb.

Lorwayne Dellert's and Allen Foster's artistic talent is left to Ann Moulton. May you have many inspirations, Ann.

Irene Denning leaves her royal vehicle fit only for kings to Mr. Loeffler. You're sure to ride in style in that one, if you remember to bring a spare door in case of an emergency.

Fred Edlund relinquishes his wavy hair to James Snow. The typing class has plenty of old ribbon you can use, Jimmy.

Doris Bryant and Grace DeTomaso leave Warehouse Point in the custody of Albert Dumez. We assure you that Corky will be a good custodian.

Welles Foster relinquishes his title as manager of the basketball team to Raymond Frink.

Lorraine Donahue and Lorraine Scott's position as librarians are left to Joyce Irwin and Claire Quist.

Carolyn Driscoll leaves her skill in tinkling the ivories to Carolyn Ellsworth.

Danny Golden leaves his part-time job in the Broad Brook Mill to any ambitious soul who can stand the ordeal of working after spending a day in school.

Jacqueline Dubord's neatness and charming personality go to Marion Cooper.

Roddy Grant leaves his words of wisdom: "Studies come before pleasure," to Gene Doe. Remember, Gene, take advice from one who knows.

To any person possessing a great deal of ambition Mary Duffy bequeaths her numerous positions.

Edward Graushinsky leaves his ability to make an accordion talk to Priscilla Andross.

To June Dewey, Agnes Elinskas leaves her love for spaghetti dinners.

Harry Grindle and Evelyn Kupchunos surrender the graceful art of dancing to Donald Foster.

Elsie Enes and Marie Sullivan leave their talent for springing corny jokes to anyone brave enough to withstand the groans of his fellow classmates.

Georgiana Enes wills her shining golden tresses to Betsy Risley.

Gladys Filkins regretfully leaves her gum chewing technique to Lena Watkins. Keep chewing, Lena; the teachers love it, especially during class time.

Johnny Kissane surrenders his much loved English in Action IV to any incoming senior. It made a good file, didn't it, Johnny?

Lorraine Gagnon leaves her love for Portland basketball games to any sport enthusiast who can afford to make the trips.

John Krawfsky leaves his remarkably large vocabulary to Mr. Flood.

Edward Miller wills his pride and joy, a 1935 Chevrolet coupe, to Henry Pasqualini. Be careful on the main roads, Henry.

Lucille Grant's dramatic talent goes to Marilyn Pascoe. Keep up the good work, Marilyn.

Henry Ordway wills his admiration for historical novels to Ernest Morell.

George Polozie submits to Adolph Grimm the right to be leading man in all the school plays.

Irene Juttner and Gertrude Perry sadly turn over their back seats in Room 25 to Patricia Cavanaugh. Hope you'll have as good a time as they did back there, Pat.

Kenneth Reichle wills some of his height to Francis Revay. Don't let the sudden change affect you, Francis.

Frances Kinsellar submits her position on the high honor roll to Henry Jarvis.

To Edwin Burnham, Leon Roberts surrenders his ability to excel in all sports.

Charlotte Lorenc and Myra Perkins bequeath their willingness to cut stencils for the South Winds to the next year's office practice class.

Edward Schweir, an expert in blushing, gladly leaves this colorful trait to George Palmer.

Philip Melnik will receive Diana Mangino's skill and speed in typing. Practice makes perfect, Phil.

Robert Staiger relinquishes his position as master of ceremonies on the P.A. system to anyone with a pleasing air-way voice.

Dolores Martinez leaves her skill in navigation, especially when it comes to avoiding being hit by doors, to anyone who needs it.

William Stolle bequeaths his title as boldest boy in the class to Reginald Bancroft.

Sally Moulton, class treasurer, leaves her many headaches obtained by trying to keep the accounts straight to Genevieve Dzen.

Dorothy Myers surrenders her frequent visits to the big city to Olive Crawford.

Carolyn Pease reluctantly leaves her long bus ride to school to Edward Barry.

Doris Hack is the receiver of Angie Sala's talent and love for athletics.

Jean Saxton's ability for selling things in the Warehouse Point area goes to Henry Tanzer. You'll have to get up early to beat Jean's record, Henry.

Bernice Luscinskas leaves to anyone who loves to handle money the task of selling lunch tickets.

James Wisniewski bequeaths his ability to wisecrack in shop math class to anyone who is snappy enough to make a comeback.

Anna Fiori relinquishes her title as editor of the school paper to Harriet Mohn. Remember, Harriet, have hope.

To Charles Clarke, Albert Krivickas submits his position as chief shop assistant to Mr. Bennett. Brace yourself, Charles; it's a hard job.

The Senior Class wishes to extend its thanks to Miss Mohn for all the assistance she has given us.

To the Juniors we leave all the rights and privileges entrusted to the Senior Class. We also give them our success in raising money for the benefit of the Washington trip.

To the Sophomores we surrender the exclusive right to indulge in United States History.

To the Freshmen, our most faithful followers, we leave the right to discard the title of Freshmen.

To the faculty we leave our fondest hopes that they will again encounter another senior class with as much intellect, versatility, pleasantness, ability, and salesmanship.

And whereas on this the sixth day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and forty-seven, we, the president, Harry Grindle; vice president, Robert Staiger; secretary, Elsie Muska; treasurer, Sally Moulton, being of sound state of mind, as always, set our seal to this last will and testament.

Signed and sealed by the Class of 1947 of Ellsworth Memorial High School, town of South Windsor, county of Hartford, state of Connecticut, United States of America, for their last will and testament in the presence of those who have hereunto subscribed ourselves as witnesses on this the sixth of June, 1947.

CLASS PROPHECY

SCENE: Airplane 1960

Well, for goodness' sake, Glen Collins!

Is that the way always treat your old friends, Shirley, when you meet them?

No, that's just the way I have of advertising my products. I work for the R. Grant Novelty Company. By the way, what are you doing here?

I'm flying to Washington on business. I'm manager of the Collins' Bus and Airline Company.

Is the airline company very big?

Oh, yes, we have planes flying not just in the United States but to other countries as well. Why, only last week I met Elsie Muska on her way to China as a Red Cross nurse. Evelyn Kupchunos works with our company also as an airline hostess. Harry Grindle is one of our pilots, a very capable man indeed.

Of all things, I remember Harry. That reminds me of some of the other people from our class. I see this Life magazine that I'm reading is now edited by Anna Fiori, and Carl Curtis is the photographer.

Yes, and did you see this picture in here by Allen Foster? He won the Pulitzer Award for the most outstanding picture of the year.

He certainly made some clever pictures for our dances and parties. I also heard that the Welles Foster and Fred Edlund geniuses received the Nobel Prize for inventing the best mouse trap of the year.

I always knew that they would turn out to be great inventors. I suppose you heard about William Stolle being up for the third term as mayor of Broad Brook, and Bob Staiger is East Windsor's very efficient selectman. Gerry Perry is the town clerk.

Yes, we really had some great celebrities in our class. Several of them have gone into business for themselves. June Boulet has her own hairdressing shop where Theresa Breton furnishes ideas for new hair styles. Have you ever stopped at the Sieber-Hancock Wayside Lunch, one of Scantic's growing establishments?

Yes, their hamburgers are delicious. Did you know that Gladys Filkins has opened a drug store a little farther down the street? She does a big business selling bicarbonate of soda. She also has Irene Juttner working as a waitress there.

Really? Have you heard how Spring Pond Park has developed? It is now owned and operated by Henry C. Ordway.

I heard about that. Only last week they had the world famous trapeze team of Reichle, Miller, and Golden performing there. Remember George Polozie? He used to work down there during his high school days.

Oh, but I heard that he's now Ambassador to Russia, and Loretta Terazzi is his interpreter. I hope he can understand her fast chatter.

Did you know that Sally Moulton is the designer of his personal wardrobe? I wonder whether there were any other designers in our class.

Yes, Wayne Dellert designs many of the latest fashions, and Jackie Dubord models them for her. They buy all their material from the Sullivan, Surber, and Wilder Sewing Shop located on Fifth Avenue in New York.

Speaking of New York, the other day I happened to meet Dr. Schweir, the famous brain specialist. You remember Edward, don't you? He told me that he now has Jean Saxton as his receptionist.

Did you hear about Al Krivickas? He's a famous Hollywood producer. His first success was a silent picture which starred Helen Smith. His latest star is Lucille Grant, who has become one of America's well known actresses. I remember Lucille in the high school plays. When I saw her last picture, I met Dorothy Smith working as a cashier in the theater.

Did you know that back in Warehouse Point there was a bad accident in the Perkins' Pet Shop? One of the prize dogs died. Myra called the Graushinsky Undertaking Parlor for quick service.

Have you heard the latest? Mary Duffy is the head of the French department at the University of Michigan.

Our class has done many things in this country, but the other day I read in the paper that John Kissane had just left for Africa to bring back a pink elephant for the American Museum of Natural History.

Oh, I heard that Cynthia Collins was put in charge of the Bronx Zoo in New York, while Georgiana Enes runs the peanut concession there.

Did you hear about the big fire in that office building in Chicago? If it hadn't been for the daring work of Fire Chief Barry, many lives would have been lost.

One of the stores in that building was a florist shop owned by Doris Bryant and Grace DeTomaso. Agnes Elinskas was one of the secretaries who were saved. The newspapers gave much credit to Lorraine Donahue for her fine work as a nurse at the fire.

Next door to the building was the Roberts-Wisniewski gymnasium where all the famous prize fighters train for championship bouts. I'll bet they're still playing basketball, too.

Angie Sala is in charge of the women's athletic department there. Dolores Martinez is coaching girls' basketball at the Y.W.C.A.

Back in Broad Brook, Irene Denning has been hired as chief mechanic in Stolle's Garage. I have heard that Broad Brook is getting to be a big place.

Yes, the Bell Telephone Company has opened a branch office there and has hired Bertha Shewokis as manager and Carolyn Pease and Dorothy Myers as telephone operators. By the way, I wonder how things are going at Ellsworth.

From what I hear Frances Kinsellar is busy telling jokes to her English classes. Elsie Enes is the new office girl, and Charlotte Lorenc is the typing instructor.

Speaking of typing, did you know that Diana Mangino has broken the world's typing record?

Look at this paper. The weatherman, John Krawfsky, predicts that there will be weather today. Lorraine Scott works with him. Her chief duty is to keep John informed on which way the wind is blowing.

Frances Euskavech is now teaching hairdressing at the girls' trade school in Hartford. Lorraine Gagnon graduated from there and has established her own business in Pleasant Valley.

Bernice Luscinskas is the principal of the Warehouse Point Grammar School.

Oh, I forgot to tell you that I went to a concert in New York last week. I heard Carolyn Driscoll play; you know she's become Jose Iturbi's stand-in.

I saw Charles Jorgensen the other day. He's now a tobacco buyer for a large concern. He has to cover a great deal of territory, but Charlie doesn't seem to mind.

What's the matter? Is something wrong with the plane?

With a Collins' plane? Of course not. We're circling the Washington Airport.

So soon? Thinking about our former classmates has made this a very pleasant trip. Remember how long our trip took in 1947?

Don't forget this is 1960. Things are different now. I hope you have a profitable trip. Perhaps we'll meet again soon.

SHIRLEY VAN SICKLIN
GLENDON COLLINS.

The front row has four people: a girl in a light-colored jacket and skirt, a girl in a dark dress, a girl in a light blouse and plaid skirt, and a boy in a light suit. The middle row has five people: a boy in a light suit, a girl in a light blouse, a girl in a dark dress, a boy in a light suit, and a boy in a light suit. The back row has four people: a girl in a light blouse, a girl in a dark dress, a boy in a light suit, and a boy in a light suit. The background shows a building with large windows and a tree on the left.
